Authority Name	Lindsay Thurber Comprehensive High School
-----------------------	---

Authority History	In 1947 several rural public school divisions joined with the Red Deer Public School District No. 104 in the creation of a regional composite high school (Red Deer Composite High School) and a vocational school (Red Deer Vocational School). The schools were built on federal land that had been part of the former A-20 Army Camp on the eastern boundary of the City of Red Deer. In 1952 the Red Deer Composite High School was renamed to the Lindsay Thurber Composite High School.

In 1969 the Red Deer Vocational School and Red Deer Composite High School merged into a comprehensive school. In 1970 the school was re-named the Lindsay Thurber Comprehensive High School after a well-known Red Deer teacher. The school continues in operation.
