Creator Information

Authority Name Red Deer Public School District No 104

Authority History The Red Deer Public School District started as the Red Deer Central Protestant Public School District No. 104 on September 12, 1887. It opened a log school house which was the first school built between Calgary and Edmonton. By the founding of the Province of Alberta in 1905, the school district was at least informally renamed The Red Deer Public School District No. 104.

In January 1939 the sixty rural districts outside Red Deer were merged into the Red Deer School Division No. 35. On June 3, 1947 plans were made to open the Lindsay Thurber Composite High School. The Red Deer School Division No. 35 was responsible for operating the Vocational section with the Red Deer Public School District No. 104 operating the Academic Section. The Public School District formally acquired Lindsay Thurber Composite High School on January 1, 1962.

Red Deer Public School District No. 104 continues to provide public educational opportunities for about 10,000 students in Red Deer at the elementary, middle, and secondary levels, including French Immersion programming.
