Creator Information

Authority Name Central Alberta Quilters' Guild

Authority History The Central Alberta Quilters' Guild was established in 1983. It was briefly known as the Red Deer and District Quilters Guild, before adopting their current name by April of that year. The Guild was formally incorporated on November 25, 1983.

The Guild's mandate is to promote the love of quilting by supporting learning, sharing, and socialization. The Guild hosts an annual Quilt Show, as well as regular workshops, instructional sessions, retreats, and quilting challenges, and is active in the greater community by donating quilts and handmade items to charitable causes.
